Dulles Leaves For Talks in Southeast Asia

Will Fly to Bangkok; Report Eden Irked at
U. S. Stand on Islands

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles departs for the Far East today for high-level diplomatic talks on the Formosa crisis and Allied defense strategy in Southeast Asia.

Dulles will fly over the Pacific to Bangkok, Thailand, where he will meet next Wednesday with diplomats of Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, Pakistan, the Philippines, and Thailand. The meeting was called to get the new eight-nation defense pact against Communist aggression ready for operation in any emergency.

Diplomats said Dulles also will have opportunities while there to talk behind-the-scenes with British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and other officials on new Allied strategy in the China crisis. The diplomatic-military jockeying over Formosa has placed new and heavy strains on American-British relations.

Eden Reported Irked

Eden and other British officials were reported upset by Dulles' new warning to Red China against attacking the Nationalist-held Quemoy and Matsu Islands off the China coast. Britain has been promoting a plan to surrender these islands to the Reds in exchange for a Formosa cease-fire. Dulles didn't say no to that scheme in his foreign policy address Wednesday night. But he said it was doubtful that such a surrender would promote peace or freedom.

Diplomats believe the best chance of solving the Formosa crisis may center on talks through diplomatic channels between Washington, London, Moscow, Peking, New Delhi and other capitals. These talks, if profitable, might form the basis for more formal negotiations either inside or outside of the United Nations.

Met With President

Dulles talked over the far eastern situation with President Eisenhower Thursday night at the White House.

A Southeast Asian defense treaty signed at Manila last September provides that any attack in the Pacific area will be met by the treaty nations in accordance with their constitutions. Consultation of an immediate basis is provided in event of subversion. The treaty area extends to Laos, Cambodia and free Viet Nam, although the three Indochina states are not treaty members.

Dulles will travel to Bangkok via San Francisco, Honolulu, Guam and Manila.

After Bangkok he will go to Rangoon, Burma, on Feb. 26 for important talks with Burmese Premier U Nu. From Rangoon, the secretary will go to Laos, Cambodia, free Viet Nam and the Philippines.

Nationalists Sink 21 Vessels of Red Chinese Fleet in Air-Sea Battle

TAIPEI, Formosa — The Nationalist Chinese navy and air force announced today, in an official communique, that 21 vessels of a Red Chinese fleet have been sunk in a furious air-sea battle off Taishan Island, 120 miles northwest of Formosa.

The communique said Nationalist planes also attacked the Communist Taishan Island base itself, destroying eight barracks and a tented billeting area, and inflicting "heavy casualties" among Communist troops.

It said 1,800 Red troops, intended as reinforcements for the Communist Taishan Island garrison, went down with their transport vessels in the attack on the Communist fleet.

Listed as sunk by the Nationalist combined air-sea arm were: Five Communist gunboats, Eight landing craft, Eight armed junks.

Other Red Vessels Damaged

In addition, the communique

said, a number of other Red vessels were damaged.

The Nationalists pounded the Communist reinforcement fleet for eight hours, the announcement said.

It was reported that two Nationalist destroyers took part in the attack.

Col. Lu Ta, Nationalist military spokesman, said the landing craft which were sunk ranged from 300 to 400 tons displacement.

The spokesman said the Nationalists intercepted a fleet of 14 Communist gunboats and landing craft carrying reinforcements from Peikuan Islands to the Taishan Islands. The Taishans are 30 miles south of Nanchi and 63 miles north of Matsu Islands.

The intercepting Nationalist force opened fire and quickly threw the Communist fleet into confusion, it was claimed. The Communists broke off contact after two hours of fighting but were overtaken by the Nationalist warships, Lu said.

Allot 36,866 Acres for Corn In Saline County

Saline County's corn acreage allotment for 1955 is 36,866 acres as compared with the 1954 allotment of 34,943 acres. Paul B. Whitlock, chairman of the Saline County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, points out that the increase over 1954 is due to an increase in the national allotment recently proclaimed by Secretary of Agriculture, Ezra Taft Benson. The national corn acreage allotment for 1955 is 49,842,697 acres; in 1954 it was 46,995,504 acres.

Mr. Whitlock advises that the county allotment is now being apportioned among the corn growing farmers of the county and that notifications of individual farm allotments will be in the mail to farmers about Feb. 28. Those who feel that their allotments have not been properly calculated may file an appeal with their county committee within 15 days after the allotment notice was mailed.

The farm allotments, Chairman Whitlock explains, are based on the acreage planted to corn in 1951, 1952, and 1953, as adjusted for abnormal weather and changes in the type of farm operation. Adjustments also may be made to bring the corn acreage into conformity with farms that are similarly operated and also are similar as to tillable acreage, crop rotation practices, type of soil and topography. After this a uniform adjustment percentage is applied to all farms in the county to bring the total within the allotted acreage for the county.

Farmers who stay within their farm acreage allotment will be eligible for price support on all the corn produced in 1955, provided the corn meets grade and moisture requirements, and provided the corn is stored in a bin or crib or in commercial storage approved by the county ASC committee.

Eligible corn may be put under Commodity Credit Corporation loan as in other years. Purchase agreements also will be available. The loan rate for 1955 will be announced at a later date but will not be less than 82 1/2 per cent nor more than 90 per cent of parity. Farmers who stay within the corn and other acreage allotments established for their farm also are eligible for Agricultural Conservation practice payments.

The corn acreage allotment program, Whitlock explains, is the means provided by law for orderly stabilizing corn production in line with anticipated requirements and to assure cooperating producers that their corn will have a market value which is fair to producers and consumers alike.

Woman Loses Billfold With Money for Child's Hospital Care

A rural resident of Saline county, Mrs. Lorelei McConnell, Rt. 2, Harrisburg, whose child is in the hospital, and who sold farm stock to help pay his hospital bill, lost her billfold containing $400 and is seeking to recover the lost wallet in today's Daily Register classified ads.

Mrs. McConnell said the family has practically walked the route from their home to Carrier Mills and then into Harrisburg looking for the purse.

Let's get this money back to the owner, who offers a liberal reward.

Young Mother Learns She Married Her Own Brother, Bore Him Two Sons

HEREFORD, England (UP)—Two young orphans, who fell in love at first sight and were married, learned after the birth of their second son that they were brother and sister, the tearful mother said today.

The story of the tragedy was told by 24-year-old Marjorie Hughes, who separated five months ago from her husband-brother Geoffrey Hughes, 23, a timber cutter, after anonymous tipster told her of her true identity.

They have not seen each other since then but Geoffrey said, "I hope to see her today to clear up this whole terrible mess."

The mixup began in 1934 when their mother died and the three sisters and three brothers were sent to separate county homes. Marjorie, barely 3 years old at the time, was adopted by a family named Stanham and was known from then on as Marjorie Stanham.

Met At Dance

Geoffrey remained in touch with his other brothers and sisters but did not meet Marjorie again until 1948 at a dance when she was a WAAF — a member of the Women's Auxiliary Air Forces. She was engaged to another man but fell in love with Geoffrey and broke the engagement.

"I kept in touch with two of my sisters but I did not hear of Marjorie until I was 19," young Hughes said. "I remember the night very well. I went to a dance at Hereford and met a very pretty WAAF called Marjorie Stanham."

"I got very much interested in the girl... we fell very much in love... we used to talk much of the past, but Marjorie could not tell much of her family because she said she had no near relatives."

They were married Sept. 13, 1951 and had two children, Robert, 3, now in the Hereford hospital with bronchitis, and Michael, who was born five months ago. It was at the time of Michael's birth an unknown woman telephoned and suggested they look at their birth certificates.

"I know Marjorie had a terrible shock when she saw the names of the parents on both our birth certificates were the same," Geoffrey said. "She was deathly white and it was a terrible upset to me."

It was horrible," Marjorie said in a separate interview.

They separated then, Geoffrey returning to the home of his father who had since remarried, while legal experts studied the case. The couple has asked an annulment.

FRANCIS REYNOLDS looks over his birthday greeting cards yesterday at the home of a son, the Rev. Roy Reynolds, in Gaskins City, where his 95th birthday anniversary was celebrated. As he looked through 13 cards he had received he jokingly commented, "I got 13 cards; it looks like I've got that many friends left."

Francis Reynolds Celebrates 95th Birthday at Home in Gaskins City

Francis Reynolds, one of the last to work at the old iron furnace in Hardin county and whose father was one of the last men employed at the old silver mine near the Stone Face, celebrated his ninety-fifth birthday anniversary in Gaskins City yesterday.

The celebration was held at the home of a son, the Rev. Roy Reynolds, pastor of the Gaskins City Baptist church, and his whole family was there to watch him cut the birthday cake.

There were eleven children born to his wife, Sarah P. Reynolds, who died in 1927, and eight of them are living, all but one being residents of Harrisburg. They are C. T. Reynolds, Fred Reynolds, William Reynolds, Mrs. Maggie Pickering, widow of Bert Pickering, Roy Reynolds, Mary Wilkinson, wife of George Wilkinson, Ray Reynolds, and Ida Butler, wife of Herbert Butler. Youngest child, Clifford, died in 1941. Two daughters who died were Etta and Bessie.

Born in Independence Township

Mr. Reynolds, who was born in Spring Valley church community in Independence township, has lived in this county all his life except for three years when his family moved to near Cape Girardeau, on the Illinois side of the river, when he was a lad of seven.

After his father quit working at the silver mine because it was closed, Francis was 17 or 18. When 19, Francis got a job at the iron furnace, cutting cord wood for the operation. He cut two cords a day the several months he worked there.

He married in 1882 and the couple moved to Somerset, living there a short while before moving to Liberty, where they resided until 1900. Then they lived at Walnut Grove for five years and moved to Dorrisville where they lived until 1910. They lived at Rudement until 1920 when they returned to Harrisburg.

Retired at Age of 75

Besides farming, Mr. Reynolds worked at old No. 6 mine near Dorrisville and No. 4 at Ledford. His last job was at Dorrisville school, where he was janitor for 14 years. He retired 20 years ago when 75 and has been living with his children since then.

He has taken good care of himself and appears in good condition. "If I hadn't had pneumonia four years ago, I'd be a pretty good man yet," he commented.

He likes to tell about the trip from Independence township to the Illinois side of the Mississippi river, 88 years ago. They moved by ox teams and came back the same way. On this trip he saw his first train—at Dongola.

He said they returned to this area during cold weather but made it all right through the trails.

"Rudd Mick, who moved us, knew all the churches and school

Conduct Survey To Find Women for Work in Factory

The Illinois State Employment Service, 115 North Main street, Harrisburg, is making a survey to find out how many unemployed women with factory power sewing machine experience are interested in getting that type of employment.

The employment service is also interested in making a list of those women without factory experience who have done considerable sewing in their own homes and are interested in getting factory work.

The prospective employment would be in Eldorado. A concern has shown an interest in locating in Eldorado, depending on the availability of experienced workers. To date a sufficient number of women with experience in operation of power sewing machines have not been located.

All such interested persons are asked to contact the Employment Service immediately.

Gail Barger, 40, Harold Wible, 23, Carrier Mills, Two Racine, Wis., Men are Killed; Woman is Injured

Deaths and Injury Result of Crash of Pickup
Truck and New Car Tandem on Straight
Stretch of Highway South of Carrier Mills

Four persons today were dead as a result of a tragic motor vehicle crash on Route 45 two miles south of Carrier Mills yesterday afternoon. The dead:

Gail Barger, 40, Carrier Mills;
Harold Wible, 23, Carrier Mills;
Ermer Gray, 32, Racine, Wisconsin;
Urah Cobbs, 32, Racine.

Only one person in the crash escaped death—Willa, 28-year-old wife of Urah Cobbs.

State Policeman Adolph Sweat said the deaths and injury were the result of a crash of a pickup truck in which Barger and Wible were returning from their jobs and a new car tandem—one car pulling another.

Wible was driving the pickup northward on Route 45 and the other three were in the front car of the tandem, headed southward, Sweat said. He declared that the crash occurred about 2:45 p. m. on a straight stretch of pavement, that tire marks showed that wheels of the new car apparently left the concrete, and in getting back onto the pavement swerved over into the lane of the approaching pickup.

He said that measurement revealed friction marks from the Carrier Mills truck were 127 feet long. Two witnesses, Hubert and Ordway Taborn, Carrier Mills, who were plowing in a field near the scene of the crash, told Sweat that they heard screeching brakes, and Wible who returned to the mine looked up to see the vehicles crash. The machines went 10 or 15 feet up in the air, they said. Wible and Barger were thrown from the truck.

Worked at Saxton Mine
All five were brought by ambulance to hospitals here. Gray being taken to Lighthouse and the other four to Harrisburg hospital.

Barger, who suffered a broken neck among his injuries, was pronounced dead on arrival and was returned to the Thornton funeral home at Carrier Mills.

Young Wible, son of Superintendent John Wible of the Saxton mine where he and Barger were employed, died at 11:30 p. m. Sheriff William T. Barrett said that Wible who returned to the mine only a month ago, suffered a broken pelvis and punctured bladder. His body, too, was moved to the Thornton funeral home.

Gray died at 5 a. m. Barrett said that he suffered head injuries, a severely lacerated throat and was hemorrhaging internally.

Cobbs' death came at 8:45 a. m. today. Cobbs, Barrett stated, sustained a fractured skull, a big shag in his face and both legs were broken.

Tandem Driver Undetermined
His wife suffered severe injuries about the nose and face.

Harry Hunter, executive vice president of the Racine Ford Co., was in Harrisburg today because of the crash.

Mr. Hunter said that Cobbs was in the car.

Witnesses Tell of Accidental Death
Of Ralph Larowe

Three witnesses testified last night that Ralph Larowe slipped from a coal car and fell under its wheels while working at the City Coal Yard Wednesday, at the inquest into Larowe's death conducted by Deputy Coroner Jesse Gibbons at the court house.

They testified that Larowe, as the car was being spotted at the conveyor, was climbing the car to brake it when he slipped. They said that slippery gloves could have been the reason he slipped.

The coroner's jury returned a verdict that Larowe died of an unavoidable accident.

4,184,823 Tons
Of Coal Produced in State During January

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois coal production for January fell slightly from the previous month. Mines and Minerals Director Ben H. Schull reported today.

Schull said January's 4,184,823 tons was 313,000 tons under the total hoisted in December, 1954, but 20,000 tons more than January, 1954, production.

A total of 112 working mines employing 12,203 men turned out the coal in January.

a regular mechanic employed by his company and that Cobbs desired to attend the funeral of his grandfather at Memphis, Tenn. He said that Cobbs was given permission to drive the two new cars through to Memphis for delivery there and that his wife was to accompany him. Mr. Hunter said he did not know that Ermer Gray was with Mr. and Mrs. Cobbs on the trip.

Sweat said that it could not be definitely determined who was driving the tandem at the time of the crash.

The bodies of Gray and Cobbs were moved to the Gibbons funeral home.

Deputy Coroner Jesse Gibbons said the date of the inquest had not been set.

Wible Rites Sunday

Funeral services for Harold Wible will be held Sunday at 9 a. m. at the Thornton funeral home where the body lies in state. Rev. Ernest Ammon will officiate. At 10 a. m. the body will be taken to Libonia, Ind., near Salem for a short service and burial at 3 p. m.

The Gibbons funeral home this afternoon was taking the body of Ermer Gray to the Hutton funeral home at Dyersburg, Tenn. Mr. Gray is survived by his mother, Mrs. Florence Louis of Maury City, Tenn.

New Wintry Blast to Hit The Midwest

By United Press

Blizzard warnings were hoisted in parts of Nebraska and Kansas today and near-blizzard conditions were predicted for a vast area of a new wintry storm roared out of the Northwest.

The storm, which raced eastward on two fronts, was expected to hit western and central Nebraska and northwest and north central Kansas with a blizzard of blinding snow and skidding temperatures.

Meanwhile, the U. S. Weather Bureau predicted near-blizzard conditions of driving snow and falling temperatures over the northern and central Great Plains and northern Rockies.

The warnings included the Dakotas, southeast Wyoming and eastern Colorado.

The storm was expected to drive into extreme western Missouri by Saturday morning and send a vast blanket of rain changing to snow northwards into the Midwest.

Summery temperatures in the lower Midwest and Southwest were due to vanish when the storm, followed by a blast of cold air, hit the areas.

The storm came whistling out of Canada Thursday, dropping the temperature at Cutbank, Mont., 44 degrees to 19. Eight inches of snow hit Sheridan, Wyo., and five inches fell on Eagle, Colo.

A Big Step Forward

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
With two experiments behind him, President Eisenhower apparently intends to make a regular thing of televising his news conferences. This could be an important gain for the country, and it is not likely to diminish the President's already high stature with the American people.

The nation can gain because it will have an unparalleled chance to see and hear its President discuss the pressing issues of the day under prodding from the U. S. press.

The performance is unrehears-
ed. There is the natural drama inherent in lively exchanges between the most important man in the world and a group of keen-minded interrogators. Viewers will be witnessing the operation of government at its most frequent and direct point of contact with the American people—speaking through their representatives, the reporters.

From the start, Mr. Eisenhower has been extremely responsive in these contacts with the press. In the judgment of many, he has been the best practitioner of the press conference art we have ever had,
not excluding the late Franklin D.
Roosevelt.

It would be wrong to say, however, that he revealed himself
right off as a master of spoken English. In his early days in politics, the President spun some of the most tangled sentences ever
left hanging in air.

His critics said this showed his muddleheadedness. His friends said it happened because he was both eager to respond and untutored
in government; in his wish to satisfy a questioner, he groped—
out loud—for answers he did not readily have.

The televised conferences have shown him much improved on this count. His replies usually are direct and relatively terse. Even when they are long, he seldom today gets lost in the verbal jungles
that once trapped him.

James C. Hagerty, Mr. Eisenhower's press secretary, does not,
of course, release the full press conference for TV. He edits out certain portions. Some of these involve presidential slips of the tongue,
others unfortunate phrasings
off-the-cuff on important policy matters, and some even embarrassing gaps in the President's knowledge.

The editing has raised the cry of censorship in certain quarters. No absolute censorship is involved,
since the full transcript is handed to the press. But it is argued, with some force, that viewers will not check to see what has been deleted. They will tend to accept as complete the TV record, trimmed
and polished.

There are at least three answers
to this. One, responsible newspaper and broadcasting officials
can and should keep close watch on the deleted material. If, over a reasonable period of time, it appears the President is being excessively favored by the editing
process, they should register firm protest.

Second, it is unreasonable to expect that any man in public life
is going to go out of his way to magnify his errors. It is well known that Mr. Eisenhower is green in government, though he has learned much in a short span.
What real gain is there in advertising slips of the tongue and gaps in information?

Third, there can be serious em-
barassment, if not actual danger,
to the country in spreading wide
the accidents of off-the-cuff discussion when they impinge directly on our vital relations with other lands. The whole idea of not quoting the President directly arose from the need to protect us
from the inescapable perils of impromptu comment.

On the whole, the televising of presidential press conferences
would seem to be a big step forward in informing the people, on whom this government rests. Masters of the new technique will always enjoy a political advantage.
But so long as they do not distort
or abuse it, there can be no help
for this.

One of the More Influential Russian Politicians

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Russia And China In Better
Position To Attack Formosa
Than U. S. Is To Defend It;
De Seversky Believes U. S.
May Be Forced Into Retaliatory War.

WASHINGTON. — One unpublized factor which makes the Chinese Reds so bold and brash around Formosa is their heavy air superiority over the United States.

It's no secret that the United States has around 2,500 combat planes in Japan, Okinawa, Korea and Formosa. In contrast, the Chinese and Russians, together have around 8,500 planes in the same area, including those in Siberia.

Furthermore, the Reds could bring in strong reinforcements in about 24 hours, while it would take us two to three days to ferry planes across the Pacific. Finally, Russian fighter planes are generally more modern than ours,
though we are ahead in strategic bombers.

Russia has been claiming that she has 20,000 combat planes.
This figure is probably about right. Furthermore, Russia began building jets about two years before we did, and her fighter fleet
is reported completely modernized.
Our total combat air strength is estimated at around 20,000 planes.

All this is why Alexander De Seversky, the famed aviator who did so much to prod American aviation into action during and just before the war, is now prodding
the various senators regarding the appalling deficiencies of the U. S.
Air Force.

Simultaneously, Air Force commanders have been meeting in Colorado Springs to try to remedy
these deficiencies.

HOLOCAUST ON FORMOSA
The only thing that is going to stop Russia from attacking us, De Seversky has advised senators, is a strong air defense.

"Yet," he warns, "our own effort has been woefully meager.
More alarming still, the provision for our continental air defense
made in the new budget is utterly inadequate."

De Seversky also warned senators that, while the Red Chinese might not be able to capture Formosa, nevertheless their superior

air power could pound it to pieces.
To stop such a bombardment, the United States would be forced to retaliatory bombing of the Chinese mainland, which might well lead to a general war.

"The Red Chinese air force,"
De Seversky has told senators,
"could, by going over the Seventh Fleet and partially evading the fleet's air cover, utterly destroy the physical and human assets of the Nationalist stronghold. . . . The menace to Formosa is not the Chinese army, but the Chinese air force."

"The island, therefore, can be defended only by preventive action extending beyond its locale, as implicit in the President's statement: 'We must be alert to any concentration or employment of Chinese Communist forces obviously undertaken to facilitate attack upon Formosa, and be prepared to take appropriate military action.'"

"This means," concludes De Se-versky, "that the President has the power to attack any and all Chinese air force installations on the Chinese mainland at any time
that, in his opinion, a concentration of that enemy air force anywhere in China appears to consti-

Jet Airports Too
Noisy for Anyone

CHICAGO (U)—The jet age will make land near airports too noisy
for most uses, according to the American Society of Planning Officials.

"It will be too noisy for sleeping,
too noisy for normal conversation,
too noisy for work in non-sound-proofed buildings, and too noisy for some kinds of out-of-door work,"
the society said in a report.

"City and county governments,
airport operators, airline officials,
the aircraft industries and other groups concerned will have to come to recognition of this fact
before any real solutions can be achieved."

The report noted that a number of aviation authorities believe that there is an "inherent alliance between engine power and noise," it is doubtful that the jet noise problem can be solved soon.

Assistant Director of Conservation Foresees Deer Hunting in Illinois in Five or Six Years

By DON CHAMBERLAIN
SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—(Special)— Deer hunting in Illinois, may be feasible in five or six years, according to Lewis E. Martin, Springfield, assistant director of the state department of conservation. Martin says a department survey shows
there are now from 7,500 to 10,000
deer in the state and "we're talking of an open season in southern Illinois in five or six years."

The deer population, Martin says,
has grown to the point where the animals stray on to highways.
About 200 of them were killed by automobiles last year. He said the deer supply in northern Illinois has leveled off to the point where it would be feasible to go ahead to have an open season but the department is waiting on an increase in the number in Southern Illinois.

A state natural history survey
report completed with assistance
of the state conservation department shows that in 1951 there were 800 deer in Ogle county. Deer statistics for other counties included: Winnebago 325, Madison
6, Kane 16, Stephenson 6, Edwards
4, Saline 25, Rock Island 6, Bureau
11, Adams 10, Whiteside 9, and Mercer 40.

Martin said the state also was thinking of developing wild turkeys
to provide open seasons on that hunting sport. He said it is planned to set up two sites for the project, both in Southern Illinois and operated in cooperation with the University of Southern Illinois.
One site, he said, will be in the extreme southeast end of Shawnee forest, with the other site yet to be determined.

Each site, Martin said, will be stocked with young turkeys imported from Maryland and Pennsylvania. He said both states have good breeding stock. Stock used in the thirties, he said, was too
mature and was not good for breeding wild fowl turkeys. He said "if you don't set them out when they are young the wild revert to the tame domestic turkeys."

State Police attached to the Executive Mansion have a new trapping. It's an aiguillette which is an ornamental insignia worn on the left shoulder. Military and naval aides to President Eisenhower, Kings and Queens and ambassadors wear it. In the case of the state police it signifies the wearer is a personal aide to Governor Stratton.

The aiguillette was worn for the first time last week. On lieutenants or higher it is a gold insignia
and on ratings below lieutenant it is silver. One of the first to have it was Lieut. Leonard Wertz, Springfield, personal driver and bodyguard to Stratton. It consists of gold or silver braid cord fastened on the shoulder and weighted
by a metal replica of the tip of a pike.

State Mines and Minerals Director Benjamin Schull, Marion, was in southern Illinois recently. He called the Governor on the telephone about a matter and mentioned he was meeting "Secretary of the Interior Ickes," in a southern Illinois city. Stratton said: "That's very interesting. When you see him please give him my regards. I knew him when I was a congressman in Washington."

A day or so later Schull again
talked to Stratton and said: "I saw Secretary Ickes and he was very glad to hear from you. He asked me to send his warmest regards." Stratton said: "That's fine. I am glad to hear from him. I have often wondered where he was!" Schull caught himself quickly saying, "Of course I mean McKay" (Douglas McKay) present secretary — Ickes died Feb. 3, 1952.)

State Auditor Orville Hodge,
Granite City, has asked the legislature to enact a law authorizing
him to warehouse state-owned tangible personal property declared surplus, excess or suitable only for scrapping. He'll make it available to such state agencies as need it,
or with the approval of the Governor, scrap it. It was offered in the House by Rep. John W. Lewis, Marshall, GOP floor leader.

A new appointee in the office of Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier, East Moline, is Thomas S.
Chuhak, Chicago. He was named attorney for the Department of Securities. Chuhak is GOP ward committeeman, a post he assumed shortly after his predecessor, Chas.
Gross, was murdered in 1952. He is 35, a veteran of Korea where he was a jet pilot. He holds many air medals for bravery.

Eleven House representatives
were recorded last week as voting
"no" on final passage of a bill which transfers $370,000 from a current appropriation of $3,850,000

for a new Home Economics Building at the University of Illinois to set up a new item calling for construction of a Child Development
Laboratory at the University.
Voting for final passage were:
Barry, Brydia, Burgoon, Considine,
Lloyd Harris, Ihnen, Kerr, McLos-
key, Otis L. Miller, Peffers, Peterson, Powell, Robbins, Schaefer, Schuler, Ralph T. Smith, Stengel,
Widmer, Willett, G. W. Wilson,
Wood and Ziegler. Against: Fal-
der, H. S. Green, Laufer, Lyons, McConnell, Morris, and Wittmond.
It was sent to the Governor by a vote of 109 to 11.

HOTTEST BUICK IN HISTORY

No wonder you see so many 1955 Buicks on the highways—they're rolling up bigger sales than ever before in history—tapping the popularity that has already made Buick one of the "Big Three" in total sales.

This is for sure . . .
There's never been anything in your car-driving experience like the feel of Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflow*—because there's never been anything like it in a car before.
In a modern plane, yes. For this is the principle of variable pitch propellers used on airplanes. Their propeller blades change "pitch" for quick take-off—then change to another
"pitch" for better gas mileage in cruising aloft.

Now you can do the same thing on the ground—in a 1955 Buick.

Twenty propeller blades are ingeniously engineered into the Dynaflow

unit. They pivot—one way for a big boost in gas mileage while cruising—another way for brilliant new performance.

You switch the pitch for instantaneous
acceleration just by pressing the pedal way down. Then it happens . . .

*A build-up of momentum smooth as oil—and quick as a split second.
Dazzling new response on getaway—
or a spectacular burst of instant
safety-surge power when you need it on a highway.*

*Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

It's pure thrill—and a happy surprise
in its far better gas mileage in cruising. Yet Variable Pitch Dynaflow costs not a penny more than earlier
versions of this wonder drive.

How about you trying it?

And look into the sizzling new horse-powers, the fresh new styling, the ever-level ride, the eye-opening low prices—all of which are making the 1955 Buick the hottest seller in all history. Come in this week, won't you?

Eisenhower Hails Cooperation in Message to Chiang

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower sent a message to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek today hailing the evacuation of the Tachen Islands as an example of "close and effective cooperation" between the United States and Nationalist China.

During the night Chiang cabled the President through the Chinese embassy here:

"On the successful completion of the re-deployment of the armed forces from the Tachen Islands, I wish to convey to you my deep appreciation for the assistance and cooperation which you have directed the United States forces to render to the Chinese government. I also wish to express my admiration for the efficiency and high spirit displayed by the United States officers and men in this operation."

Mr. Eisenhower replied: "I have received your kind message of appreciation for the assistance rendered by the armed forces of the United States in the re-deployment of the armed forces of the Republic of China from the Tachen Islands."

"The manner in which this cooperative endeavor was carried out is a source of real gratification to me and, I am sure, of mutual satisfaction to the officers and men, both Chinese and American, who were responsible for its success. They may justly take pride in having participated in this demonstration of the close and effective cooperation of our two countries in the interests of peace and the defense of freedom."

New Mystery Added to Missing Ransom Money

ST. LOUIS 18—A new witness today further deepened the mystery surrounding the missing half of the $600,000 Greenlease ransom money.

Martin Schwab, a taxicab driver, told Circuit Attorney Edward G. Dowd he drove a woman with two suitcases to an apartment where a kidnaper, Carl Austin Hall, was later arrested. Schwab said he believed he recognized the woman from a photograph as a person connected with a federal grand jury inquiry into the missing money.

He said he drove the woman from Union Station to the Town House, an apartment hotel, and carried the apparently empty suitcases to the front door.

Hall was arrested at the Town House by former policemen Louis Shoulters and Elmer Dolan, both of whom are serving prison sentences for a federal grand jury at Kansas City about their handling of the ransom.

The current grand jury recessed Thursday after hearing testimony from Mrs. Polly Lane, who told police that John Hager said he planned to get some of

Two HTHS Girls to Attend Band Clinic

Barbara Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Dunn, and Susie Grammer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Grammer, were recently selected to attend a Carbondale band clinic to be held at Southern Illinois university Saturday.

The names of the two girls, who are senior students at the Harrisburg Township high school, were submitted for entrance to the clinic and were selected to attend the clinic with approximately 250 students from the high schools throughout southern Illinois.

Barbara plays the flute in the HTHS band and Susie plays the bass clarinet.

Slightly rusted sewing needles can be made workable again by pressing them into a cake of soap.

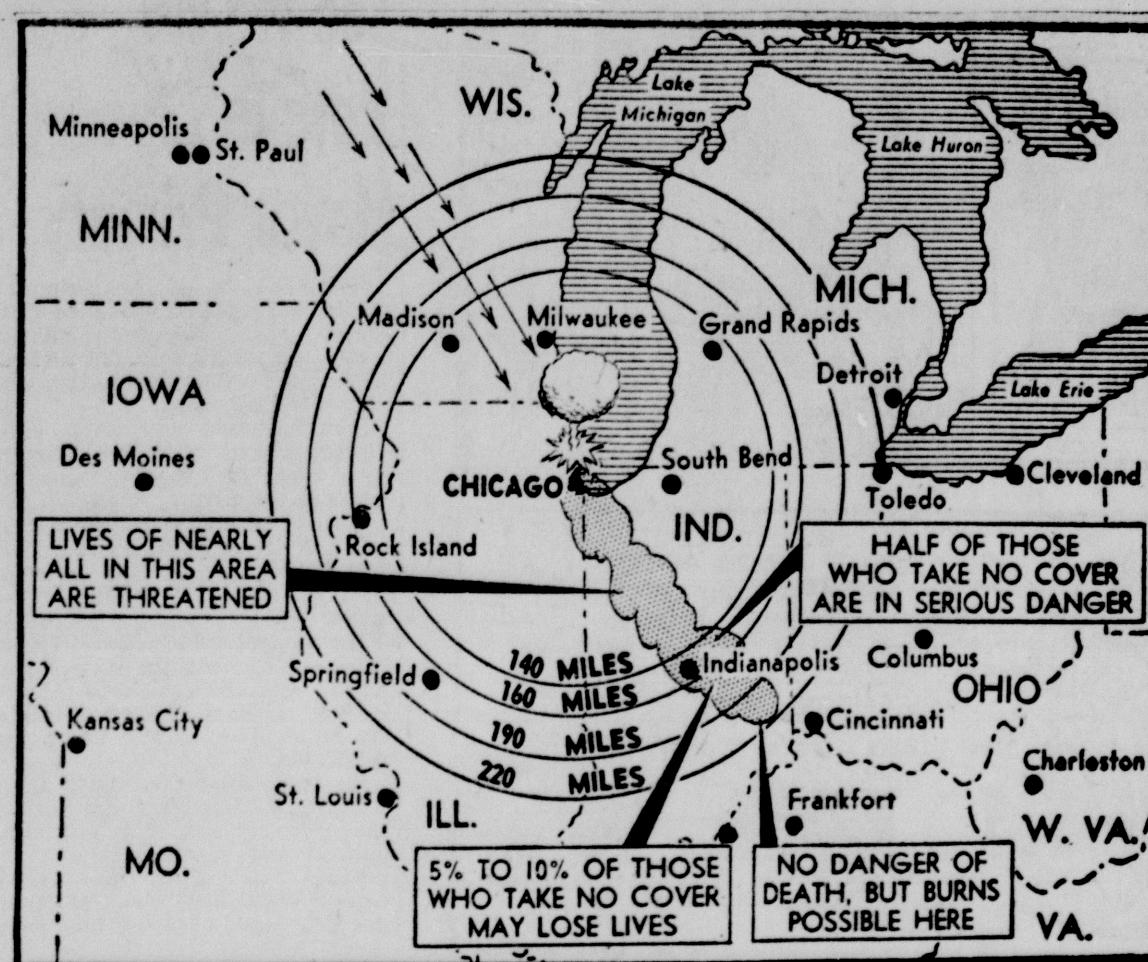

The Greenlease ransom money from Hall.

Hager, a cab driver, was the almost constant companion of Hall in St. Louis and one of the tipsters who led to his arrest.

Mrs. Lane, who was subpoenaed from her home at Du Quoin, Ill., is the aunt of Sandra O'Day, the girl with whom Hall spent his last night of freedom in a St. Louis County hotel.

In her Oct. 5, 1953 sworn statement to police, Mrs. Lane said Hager described Hall as a "live wire" and said he planned to get some of the money.

The jury was scheduled to reconvene Feb. 28.

MAP H-BOMB DANGER AREAS—The Atomic Energy commission said radioactive fallout from an H-bomb blast would be capable of killing anyone within a 7,000-square-mile area downwind from the blast. This map shows effect of a blast in Chicago, with the cigar-shaped cloud indicating area where contamination would be most concentrated with downwind conditions prevailing. (NEA Telephoto)

Don't Become a Mishap Statistic--Only Constant Vigilance Prevents Accidents

BY KAY SHERWOOD,
NEA Staff Writer

If you're going to bring your family safely through the winter without adding another statistic to the tolling home-accident toll, redouble your watchfulness. It's not enough to know the general rules of home safety. You've got to follow them, and you've got to anticipate what MIGHT happen.

To point up the need, here are case histories plucked from our own neighborhood in the last two weeks. You could probably match them in your block. I'm ashamed to admit my own carelessness is one history.

I know as well as you do that medicines should be kept out of a child's reach, and our medi-

But she, like many pedestrians, has a bad habit of stepping off the curb before the intersection is free of cars. In icy weather, when a motorist puts on his brakes, his car is apt to go out of control for a moment. That's how our friend was injured.

Thank goodness, she is recovering from severe and painful bruises suffered when she was bumped by a sliding car at the stoplight.

Moral: Caution the family to wait until every car is fully stopped before stepping down from the curb.

Cold weather calls for an inviting fire in the fireplace, but it can be potentially dangerous. A young couple moved into a new cine are lodged on a high shelf.

However, late one night recently I tended to our sick daughter, gave her two baby aspirin and left the bottle on the dressing table. Next morning, the younger child found the bottle before I saw it, emptied out the tablets, and began playing with them. He ate some. How many I don't know. Not enough to hurt him seriously but enough to scare us all. To avoid any chance of this happening again, I now measure the dosage in the bathroom and return the bottle to the shelf before I take the exact dosage to the child.

Another winter danger is a fall on icy surfaces. An elderly friend of ours exercises great care as she walks down the sidewalk.

home down the street. They proudly unpacked all their furnishings, piling the packing materials up on the floor. The day was chilly and the big, open fireplace looked like a perfect spot to burn up the excelsior. It was, for a few minutes. But a spark kicked back, set the pile of highly flammable material ablaze. They escaped injury, but a volunteer fireman told me the house was 80 per cent lost in 10 minutes.

Moral: Dispose of trash outdoors. If the weather is bad, store flammable trash outdoors until it can be disposed of safely.

Homeowners usually schedule a checkup of furnaces during warm weather but heating plants can break down mid-winter, too. A family in the next block was made ill by fumes escaping from the furnace through the hot-air ducts. When the man of the house went down to investigate, he made some error and the resulting explosion knocked him across the room.

Moral: If the furnace kicks up, call a professional. If you smell fumes, open windows and telephone the local utility company and a professional repairman.

Each of the estimated 329,562,638 cubic miles of sea water in our oceans contains nearly 6,000,000 tons of magnesium, making the potentially available amount 1,968,820,121,984,000 tons.

Cab Company Lives Up To Its Name

The Courtesy Cab Co. is living up to its name not only in truth but in spirit. Those "four musketeers" of the motor taxi are missionaries to the musclebound and infirm who live some distance from the church of their choice and do not have automobiles.

A few weeks ago they let some of these people know that they would taxi them to church free of charge. The word got around and they are now transporting as many as seventy people to church each Sunday.

No discrimination is made in race, creed or color, and the passengers seem to get as much pleasure out of riding to church with members of various denominations as the drivers do in performing this courtesy.

W. E. "Red" Frazier, head of the Cab company instituted the service with the cooperation of the drivers, Elmer Wallace, Thurman Jones, and George Byrons.

Win Hi-Tri Talent Contest at HTHS

Carol Lightfoot, daughter of Mrs. Frances Lightfoot, was the winner of a Hi-Tri talent contest held Monday at the Harrisburg Township high school.

Carol won the contest by singing her version of "Runaround" accompanied at the piano by Mona Wickham. Carol represented the Sophomore class in the contest.

Paula Reynolds represented the freshman class in the contest playing her selection of "The Old Piano Roll Blues." The other entry in the contest was a quartet of junior girls composed of Dawan Martin, Dorothy Hanning, Dorothy Schneider, and Nancy Fulkerson who sang "Lonesome Polecat."

Judges for the contest were three teachers — Miss Louise Rice, Miss Julia Williamson, Miss Bernice Patterson and four Hi-Tri girls — Nigel Jenkins, Diane Mathis, Judy Wells, and Barbara Barnes.

HTHS Typists Address Envelopes For Easter Seals

Thirty-five students in the Clerical Typing II class under the direction of Mrs. Pearl Parkhurst at the Harrisburg Township high school have recently finished typing addresses on approximately 5,000 envelopes for the Harrisburg Woman's club.

The envelopes along with letters of appeal and Easter seals are placed in large envelopes and mailed to residents all over Saline county in the interest of the crippled children in southern Illinois. Two class periods were required in typing the addresses followed by the students' alphabetizing the envelopes.

Each six weeks the students in this typing class are required to have, in three 10-minute timed writings with five or less errors on each. The students are penalized ten strokes for each error. At the end of the second semester of school, the state requires a net speed of 45 words per minute. The students with the highest net speeds at the end of the first semester were Yvonne Henn with a speed of 65; Mona Wickham, 53; Della Lambert, 52; Joan Zuanella, 52; and Sara Cummins, 51.

Throughout the year, the students are also given speed tests furnished by the Sanford-Brown Business college and may receive certificates of achievement for passing certain speed tests. Yvonne Henn was recently presented a certificate for passing the 60-word speed requirement test, and Mona Wickham and Della Lambert received certificates for passing the 50-word test.

250 Students Attend College Night at HTHS

Approximately 250 students from high schools in Saline county attended annual College Night held Feb. 15 at the Harrisburg Township high school. Present were pupils from Eldorado, Carrier Mills, Vienna, Marion, Norris City, Herrin, Galatia, Ridgway, Shawneetown and Harrisburg.

The purpose of College Night, which is sponsored by the Student Council under the supervision of H. B. Bauman, is for students who plan to further their education after high school, to gain information on the many colleges and universities in this area and to have the opportunity to confer with the representatives of these institutions. Twenty-six representatives were present from colleges, universities, business and nursing schools.

Fifteen minutes conference periods were held in Bonnell gymnasium where students talked to six or more representatives.

Miss Alvina Shrestak supervised the serving of refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Burglars Enter Post Office, Business Places At Kell, Near Centralia

CENTRALIA, Ill. (AP) — Safe crackers and burglars broke into the Post Office and four business places Thursday night in Kell, about 12 miles east of here, and got an undetermined amount of loot.

Postal inspectors were called in to determine the loss at the Post Office where burglars blew off the safe door.

Thieves also broke into a lumber yard office and burglarized the safe. Also burglarized was a general store, a service station and a feed store.

A store at Kimmunity north of Salem also was reported burglarized Thursday night.

See 965,000 Vote in Chicago Mayor Primary

CHICAGO (AP) — An estimated 965,000 Chicagoans will vote next Tuesday in Chicago's bitterly-fought mayoralty primary and aldermanic election, an election official estimated today.

John S. Rusch, chief clerk of the Election Board, based his estimate on a count of 1,930,097 registered voters in the city.

He said about 765,000 Democrats will cast their ballots in the head-line race between four aspirants for the Democratic nomination for mayor.

The contest, which has attracted national attention, features Mayor Martin Kennelly's attempt to keep his post against the opposition of the regular Democratic Party organization.

He is opposed by County Clerk Richard J. Daley, the organization-backed candidate, Benjamin Adamowski and Clarence Balek.

Rusch estimated that 200,000 voters would cast their ballots in the GOP race, where former Democrat Robert Merriam has only token opposition.

The number of registered voters was the smallest for any mayoral primary and aldermanic election since 1943.

However, it was a drop of only 1,101 from the Nov. 2 general election, when a U. S. senator and county officials were chosen.

Rusch credited the surprisingly slight drop since November to the high interest in the Democratic race. Moreover, he said, new registrants had apparently filled the gap left by the large amount of persons moving to the suburbs.

Tallulah Kisses Rayburn, Martin in Backstage Visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tallulah Bankhead, noted for her sultry romantic conquests on stage, kissed House Speaker Sam Rayburn and former Speaker Joe Martin Thursday night—but backstage and only on the cheek.

"I can't compromise them," Tallulah explained, "they're both bachelors."

Tallulah invited the two political leaders backstage after they had watched a performance of her play "Dear Charles," a rowdy drawing room comedy which both visibly enjoyed.

Tallulah greeted the "divine people" in her dressing room with "dahling," shouted above the yipping of her maltese terrier.

Both Rayburn and Martin knew Tallulah's father, the late William B. Bankhead, speaker for four years before Rayburn took over in 1940.

The huddle soon became practically a congressional caucus as Rep. Leo Allen (R-Ill) who came with Martin, Rep. Frank W. Boykin (D-Ala) who came with Rayburn, and Rep. Carl Elliott (D-Ala) filed into the crowded dressing room.

XXXV

She stood with her back to the stateroom door, breathing freely of the cool air. "Jim says he'll be all right," she said. "The preacher's sleeping now."

He stopped short before her, reading the strain and weariness that gripped her face. He said, "I've got to find you a bunk."

"No, please!" she was smiling thinly. "I'll stay with the preacher. There may be something he'll need."

Her glance had narrowed, appraising him; and he met and studied its dark depths, sensing the surging unrest that lay in its secret well-heads.

Queenie breathed heavily, swaying a little against the door, a flake or two of snow against her dark hair. Again his glance lowered against her lips, heavy and a trifle drawn-out in her tiredness. Desire sprang from the empty parts of him.

"I'm thinking of the parson," Crotch said. "I wonder if he'd be willing?"

Her eyes opened wider. "To do what, Irving?"

Again he remained silent, sorting the thoughts that swam in his mind. He wasn't talking this way because of loneliness—she had said that once; but the river years had always been lonely and he had long ago forgotten those things.

He reached for her, dropped a hand against her shoulder. "There's something between us. I can feel it when you walk near. It was in your face just now when you saw me."

She withdrew the barest degree. "You've got to be sure of what you're saying."

"I am sure. You're a woman for the river. The river will make you a good home."

"I'm not sure. I'll have to think."

"Take your time. But a woman ought to know what she wants without so much considering."

"It's only because you're the best man I've met along the river. I don't want to hurt you."

She brought her head forward, placing her lips against his mouth, and the current that had tugged and battered against them both was released head-on and surged through them like floodwater abruptly turned free.

She slipped away into the stillness of Snodgrass's room, closing the door softly behind.

An hour after their start Goss stepped into the pilothouse, picking his teeth. "China Boy's got it hot for you." He paused while his gaze clung to Crotch. "The parson's awake. Wants to see you."

Snodgrass turned to face him as he entered. He looked gaunt and more bony than ever in the frail light.

"Perhaps I have misunderstood," he began quietly. "I am told you did a fine piece of work last night. But to brawl is sinful, and I am a man of peace."

"It may be sinful," Crotch agreed and smiled thinly. "Yet we have our firewood. I taught Maddix it is more blessed to share than to hoard."

Snodgrass nodded. "Our methods vary considerably, but I suppose Gomorrah must be overcome by might. His breath came raggedly. "I owe you and your man Melott considerable."

"No; what we did was freely given."

"But I still have an obligation to repay. This woman, Queenie Dreyfus, has spoken with me. You are both sinners, as black as any who tempt man's weakness thru the flesh. Yet if you are both willing to sober your reflections, if you are willing to accept the sacredness of your marriage vows, I shall perform the service."

Crotch lifted his brows. "So Queenie talked with you?"

"She has a great responsibility on her soul and seems afraid whichever way she decides will hurt you. I told her you both appear equally wicked in the Lord's eye. I will live, and I will see you both reborn in God's good faith!"

Crotch backed from the stateroom slowly. He would find a place for her to stay above river during the summer heat, perhaps in Lavinsky. When she wearied of the routine of housekeeping, he would take her aboard with him.

The engine room bell sounding for half speed clashed heavily against his concentration. He caught the message of further signals, the instant slowing up of their paddle; and a moment later he was leaping up the pilothouse ladder. The Claramore lay heeled over in midstream, passengers and crew all crowding the aft rails.

Ben Goss' voice struck him in a hoarse murmur. "He's hung her up on a gravel spit!"

Crotch's eyes sped swiftly over the shoreline, identifying the nearest point. The angle of Jamison's deck gave him a thoughtful moment. They were abreast Picacho, and Jamison had misjudged the submerged rock in the river bed, ripping the Claramore's hull.

Ben Goss scanned the other ship searchingly. "You may be right. We'll have to take her passengers off."

They slowly neared the Claramore until finally they could distinguish Jamison standing with a brass speaking trumpet.

"Crotch, you'll have to lend a hand! How many passengers can you carry?"

Crotch squinted at Jamison's wreck, not liking his own position in this. "You can back off without help!" he yelled. "What're you waiting for?"

"We're leaking badly. Can't take a chance."

College Coaches Favor Pro Rules In Test Game

NEW YORK (U)—Four of seven college basketball coaches who watched Manhattan College defeat New York University, 78-61, under professional rules said today they liked what they saw.

Two of the coaches said they would have to see more college games played under National Basketball Association rules before deciding whether they liked the idea. Only one coach who was polled after Thursday night's Madison Square Garden game said he didn't want the pro rules in the college game.

Using NBA rules meant Manhattan and NYU used a 24-second limit on field goal attempts, eliminated the college one-and-one bonus rule and zone defense and used a 12-foot foul lane instead of a 6-footer with the defending team occupying the two inside positions on free throws. They also were charged two free throws for backcourt fouls, dropped the automatic two-foul shots in the last three minutes and were allowed five personal fouls per team per quarter. Two shots were charged for each foul thereafter. They played four 10-minute quarters.

BETWEEN YOU'N ME

Another big blowup could be on the horizon for college basketball... with the New York bookies already laying off one of the local school teams because of "surprising" reversals... coming on the heels of a Dayton bribe attempt... and a big wind from Kansas swirling on the increase in college cage betting.

The pro basketball scouts are openly dubious of the ability of Indiana's Don Schlundt to make good in the National Basketball Association... which might lead him right into AAU ball.

Another cage kid looking into the possibilities of amateur industrial basketball is the nation's No. 1 collegian-LaSalle's Tom Gola... who doesn't fancy the rugged schedule grind of the Philadelphia Warriors, especially since he'll be a married man by next season like the "job security" AAU ball will afford him... and has only a short time to make up his mind, since a Philly sports writer is pressuring him to star in a post-season Eastern junket which would clean up. Our bet: Gola will turn pro.

Gola sounded out Clyde Lovellette of the Minneapolis Lakers to get a line on what life is like in Bartlesville, Okla. Clyde is a Phillips Oil evacuee.

The solid man of the St. Louis Billikens is rugged Grady Smith, a farm boy from Puxico, Mo., who couldn't hide his disappointment the first time he saw Madison Square Garden and its grit instead of glamour. "This place would sure hold a lot of hay," he meant it... and he meant it.

An amazing specimen must be Hiles Stout, the 6-4 Illinois cager who plays the pivot... and is also agile and dexterous enough to loom as the first string quarterback on next fall's J. C. Caroline team.

When Fred Dwyer utilized his noodle in the Baxter Mile to let Wes Santee and Gunnar Nielsen run themselves into the ground (oops, boards), it brought to mind the old newspaper clipping he told us he carries around in his wallet... quoting Glenn Cunningham: "Distance running is the toughest competition there is. It's not only man against man. It's man against himself."

The draft rights to Arnold Short, the top banana in AAU basketball, are owned by Fort Wayne... whose coach, Charlie Eckman, was told by Short last spring he wanted to defer his pro career until after Army service coming up.

Artesia, N. M., will drop out of the National Industrial Basketball League after this season, our agent reports, because of poor attendance (only 400 per game) which should lead to a deluxe scramble among Phillips, DeLoria et al, for the services of Don

Tom Gola
Heathington, the former Baylorite who led the NIBL scorers a couple of years ago, and Bill (Look and Feel) Sharp, the tiny guard from Wyoming. The Oilers are still the biggest road card in AAU ball, averaging 3000 hostile fans per game.

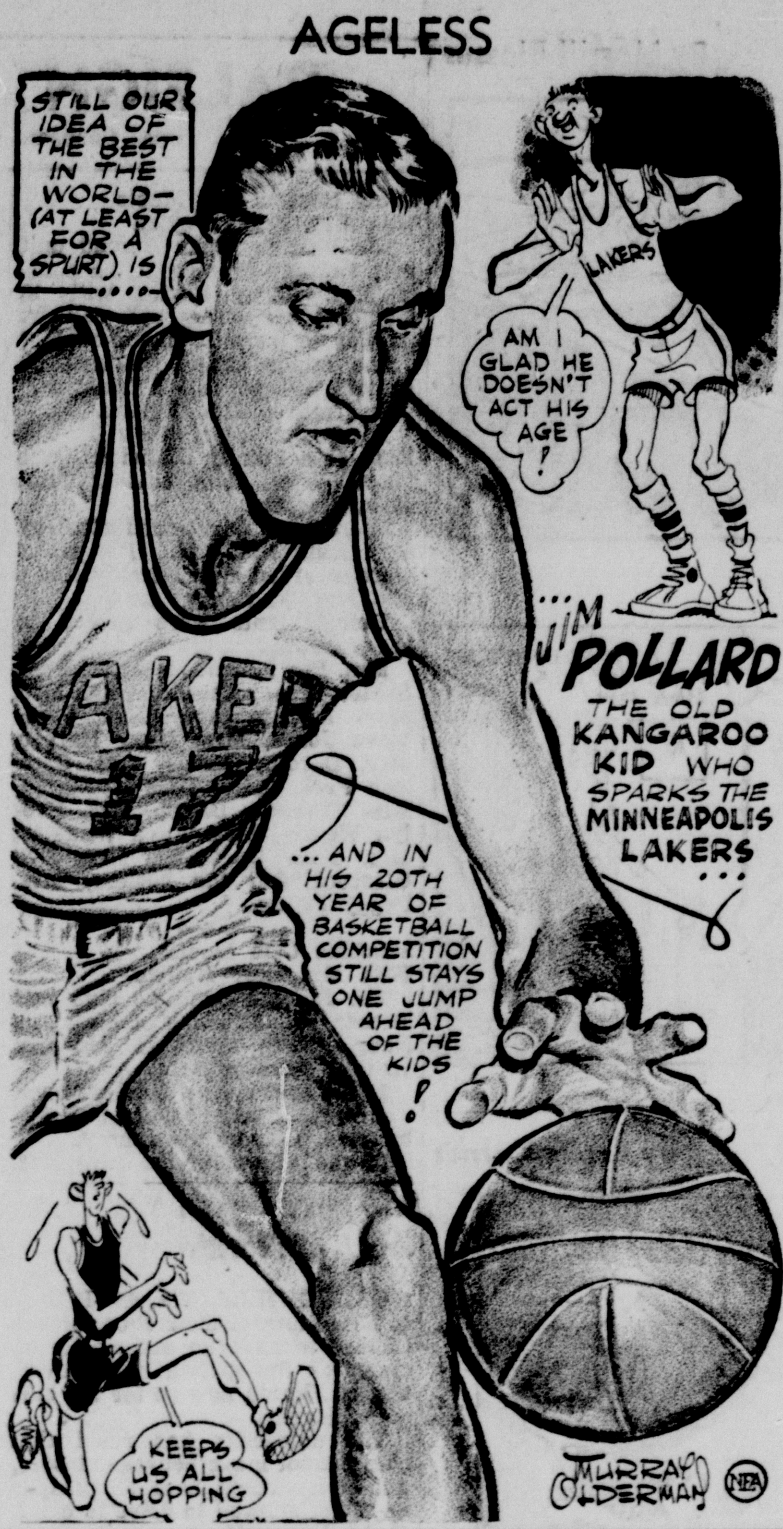

Look for another raft of basketball Selvyts to come out of Corbin, Ky., because in addition to high-flying Frank of Furman and the Milwaukee Hawks, there are five younger brothers—all basketball-minded... and high school senior Edd already has signed a Kentucky grant-in-aid.

Overheard: Syracuse's Paul Seymour grumbling in the Garden after bumping Boston's Bob Cousy on a drive-in and drawing a foul, "Blankety-blankety-blank. You can't even touch that guy."

Between you'n me, watch the Pacific Coast League revive that third major league scarecrow... now that its prey has a higher generating budget than Ford Frick himself.

Charles-Norkus Bout Tonight

NEW YORK (U)—Ezzard Charles will be the "question mark of the year" when he faces slugger Charley Norkus in Madison Square Garden tonight.

What kind of a fighter is he now, at 33, after two beatings by heavy-fisted Rocky Marciano and after five months of idleness? He'll provide the answer as he tries to start his fourth campaign to recapture the heavyweight crown. He and 26-year-old Norkus of Port Washington, N. Y., are slated for 10 rounds, nationally televised and broadcast at 10 p. m. EST.

Cincinnati's Ezzard is favored at 3-1 because the odds-makers believe he can salvage enough of his former speed, skill and punch to beat Norkus, who is also a problem man. Norkus has been a notorious in-and-outter although he seems to have settled to serious fighting now.

Miss Albright Regains Figure Skating Title

VIENNA, Austria (U)—Regaining the world's figure skating championship in spectacular style meant "a lot more" to the lovely Tenley Albright than the thrill of winning it the first time.

"Losing something makes you appreciate it more," explained the 19-year-old honey-haired star from Newton, Mass., in the wake of her emphatic triumph over 13 rivals in the women's competition that concluded Thursday night.

Pretty Tenley, then 17, became the first American to win the women's crown in 1953, but she lost it last year when, though far ahead in the point score, she took an unlucky tumble.

Her recapture of the title gave the United States a sweep of the two important titles at stake, since Hayes Alan Jenkins of Colorado Springs, Colo., had previously retained the men's championship. But hopes for further American triumphs are dim since the three U. S. teams entered in the dancing pairs event, which concludes tonight, stand only fourth, fifth, and sixth at the halfway mark.

Miss Albright won the hearts of a capacity crowd and the judges as she whirled about the ice in a dazzling display that almost dared the same unlucky accident to happen again.

A perfect score from a judge would be a 6 — Miss Albright received mostly 5.8 or 5.9, and her lowest score from any judge was 5.6.

HTHS Freshmen Edge Marion, 50-48

Harrisburg freshmen last night waited until the last minute to forge ahead and beat the Marion frosh, 50-48, at Marion last night.

The Harrisburg trailed 11-12 at the quarter, 21-25 at the half and 33-36 at the end of the third quarter, and was trailing in the last period until about a minute before the game ended, when they took the lead for the first time and won.

Bob Clark was high scorer for the locals with 15. Ray Hassett had 12, Bill Yates 11, Donald Biggs 10, Eddie Price 2, Lloyd Banks also saw action.

The local frosh will close out the season at Eldorado Monday night unless games scheduled with McLeansboro and postponed because of bad road conditions are reset.

Looking At Sports

By BILL MELTON

Harrisburg's Norris City regional basketball tournament is Carmi, a team that lists one freshman, two sophomores, four juniors and three seniors on its ten-player victory squad.

Carmi has played twenty games to date and split even, winning ten and losing a similar number. Included among the ten victories are two decisions over McLeansboro and among the losses are a couple to Eldorado.

Early in the season — on Dec. 10—Carmi came up with a 46-43 victory over McLeansboro and then repeated Jan. 14 with a 62-55 win. That alone marks them as dangerous to the local Bull Dogs. Carmi's losses to Eldorado were by scores of 36-32 and 63-49.

The tourney roster, as given by Don Shroyer, athletic director of the Carmi high school: seniors, Stan Williams, 6-1, 180 pounds; Roy Miller, 6-0, 175 pounds; Leland Sexton, 5-8½, 155 pounds; juniors, Bill Smith, 5-8½, 160 pounds; Ronnie Winter, 5-10½, 157 pounds; Kenny Brasher, 5-11, 150 pounds; Pete Fernandes, 5-9, 160 pounds; Sophomores, Leon Myers, 6-1½, 180 pounds; Bob Randolph, 5-11, 150 pounds; freshman, Mike McCombs, 6-1, 175 pounds.

There are three games remaining on the Carmi schedule before tourney time — all will be played on the Carmi floor, Olney, Feb. 19, Lawrenceville, Feb. 22 and Robinson, Feb. 25.

Carmi and Harrisburg are listed for the third game of the tourney with tip off time scheduled for 7 p. m. Wednesday, March 2. That same evening Eldorado will face the winner of the Crossville district to complete the first round of competition.

A triangular indoor track meet is listed for the Illinois armory tomorrow afternoon, starting about 1:30. The Illini will be host to Wisconsin and Purdue. Last week the Illini defeated the Chicago Track Club, 65-41, in a dual meet. Reports from the Illini indicate that the team had some brilliant individual performers, but lacks team depth.

The coach that engineered the stunning upset of Pinckneyville by Anna Tuesday night was Bob Lewis, formerly at Shawneetown. Lewis came up with an upset or two while coaching the Indians. Included among his surprises was a win over Galatia for the conference crown. In two previous games that season, 1952-53, Galatia had been the winner, but Shawneetown came along late in the season with a victory over Galatia to claim the title. It was a two point victory away from home—just like the Anna win at Pinckneyville Tuesday.

Had a letter from Dick Lehr, coach at Bridgeport and formerly at Carrier Mills. Lehr mentioned that his Bridgeport team won a slow "cat-and-mouse" type game from Lawrenceville Tuesday night, 38-37, with more than 3,000 fans looking on. The two are big county rivals and earlier in the year Lawrenceville took a 73-49 decision. Thursday's victory marked Bridgeport's first since Lehr took over the coaching reins. Lehr also sent along a "you pick-em" blank. He has been one of this feature's most consistent participants.

Bluford Defeats Thompsonville In Final Seconds

A basket in the final five seconds of play gave Bluford a 66-64 victory over Thompsonville last night on the Tigers' court. The lead changed hands 24 times during the see-saw affair.

It was the third time this season that Bluford had turned back Thompsonville. Their first conquest was by 17 points, their second by four. Bluford has a 24-3 record for the season.

Irvin's 29-point performance was a big factor in Bluford's triumph. The Tigers outshot their guests, however, hitting 25 of 53 from the field for a fine 47.0. Bluford bagged 25 of 65 for 38.0.

Thompsonville led 14-11 at the quarter and the score was tied 33-33 at halftime. Bluford held a 48-46 margin at the end of the third, and both teams tallied 18 points in the final period.

THOMPSONVILLE — Doss 15, Carlile 12, Lemmon 11, Hodgson 14, Marsh 6, Gregory 6. BLUFORD — Williams 3, Wilson 10, Sauls 7, Irwin 29, Hiatt 17.

SCORING SEASON

Bloomington, Ind.—(NEA)—Only five teams ever had scored more than 90 points on an Indiana basketball team. Three of them did it in the first half of this season.

SAME FOOTSTEPS
East Lansing, Mich.—(NEA)—Bob Lillyblad, freshman track prospect at Michigan State, has done all his running in shoes worn by his father at Minnesota a generation ago.

ANOTHER CITATION MARK
Lexington, Ky.—(NEA)—Citizen, world's leading money winner, set another record when, as an untired sire in 1954, his yearlings brought record price average of $26,929.

Minnesota to Risk Big Ten Lead in Saturday TV Game with Michigan

CHICAGO (U)—Minnesota risks its Big Ten basketball lead at Michigan Saturday afternoon in the weekly television game. The Gophers, twice beaten in 10 conference starts, were four-point favorites to win and hang on to undisputed first place.

Four league games will be played at night with second place Iowa at Michigan State, third place Illinois at Wisconsin, Northwestern at Indiana and Purdue at Ohio State.

The Minnesota-Michigan match will draw the greatest attention, for until the Gophers lose only Iowa retains a chance to share in the title. Both Minnesota and Iowa have lost twice in conference play and all other teams three times or more.

Development of sophomore Ron Kramer at center was figured to help the Wolverines against the Gophers, who boast 6-foot 10-inch Bill Simonovich as a major factor in rebounding.

Statistics Give Gophers Edge
Kramer, though only 6 feet 3 inches tall, is bulky and could give the Gopher giant trouble in scraps for possession of the ball.

Statistically Minnesota had an edge. The Gophers rank as the second toughest scoring team in the conference, and have three players who have scoring averages higher than Michigan's best, Dick Garmaker, the individual scoring leader, has hit for 24.9 points per game. Chuck Mencil for 18.1, and Simonovich for 15.6.

Michigan's top scorer is guard Don Eaddy with a 15-point mark, while Kramer, though he has hit 28 points in each of the last two games, has a 14.5 average.

The only mutual opponents of the two teams have won Big Ten foes. Minnesota has won nine losses two games against six teams while Michigan has won three and lost four against the same group.

The Gophers split with Northwestern and lost to Michigan State, won two from both Indiana and Purdue, and defeated Illinois and Ohio State.

Iowa-MSU Rated Split
Michigan also split with Northwestern, but lost also to Illinois, Michigan State and Indiana, while defeating Purdue and Ohio State. A Michigan victory would make

Wilt Chamberlain Scores 90 Points

PHILADELPHIA (U)—Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, 7-foot Overbrook high school center, who is being sought by numerous colleges, set a Pennsylvania scholastic scoring record Thursday night when he scored 90 points to pace his school to a 123-21 victory over Roxborough. Chamberlain sank 36 field goals and hit for 18 free throws to eclipse the old mark of 85 points set by Ray Pauley of Sinking Spring high school, Feb. 12, 1954.

Meet Mr. A.B.C. - He Works for our Advertisers

He is one of the experienced circulation auditors on the staff of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.* Just as a bank examiner makes a periodic check of the records of your bank—so does Mr. A.B.C. visit our office at regular intervals to make an exacting inspection and audit of our circulation records. The circulation facts thus obtained are condensed in easy-to-read audit reports which tell our advertisers: How much circulation we have; where it goes; how it was obtained; and many other FACTS that tell advertisers what they get for their money when they advertise in this newspaper.

Advertisers are invited to ask for a copy of our latest A.B.C. report.

*The Audit Bureau of Circulations, of which this newspaper is a member, is a cooperative, nonprofit association of 3,575 advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers. Organized in 1914, A.B.C. brought order out of advertising chaos by establishing a definition for paid circulation; rules and standards for auditing and reporting the circulations of newspapers and periodicals.

Car No Bargain

At U. of Florida

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP)—It used to be a mark of distinction for Joe College to have an automobile on campus. But girls at the University of Florida now go for the lads with bicycles.

The university has ruled that cars cannot move between classes, and if a student lives on campus he is not allowed to drive to class. If he lives off campus he may drive to class, but he must have a parking decal on his windshield. Even then, if he parks anywhere but in a designated spot his car will be towed away and it will cost him $5 to get it back.

Now the car-driving students are complaining that by the time they find a parking place their dates have lost interest and gone away with someone else.
